Background-

AIIMS Bhubaneswar in collaboration with CRIT CARE ASIA network (OXFORD –Wellcome Trust Funded) is looking for a medical doctor and social scientist to join our international team for an exciting new project. The aim of the project is to understand how to provide safe and effective care for critically ill patients admitted to the Intensive Care Unit (ICU).

The doctor will collaborate closely with a social scientist to interview ICU staff, patients and families to find out more about the care that is delivered day-to-day. They will also spend time on the ICU, watching what the staff are doing, in order to understand current clinical practices. After the study is complete, this information will be used to help design projects to improve the quality of care on other ICUs. Both candidates will also be expected to be involved in other ongoing projects of the network.

The successful candidates will be responsible for conducting qualitative research in two large intensive care units in Odisha . Their experience and understanding will complement each other.

They will be supported by the project leads and an international team of researchers.

Training in relevant research methods will be provided as needed.

Involvement in an international project will boost the candidates experience and resume.
